purpose

8. the genre of is a poster, because there are image a lot of image and not so much text. There is also a ~~reto~~ question (retorical) question in the ~~fr~~ middle.
Who is also the title.
the audience it's for young people at the age of 9 to 18 why? because at 9 I think we can make decision by your own and 18 it's when your finish school.

9. the same audience in both of text are the same subject, the audience aren't the same because the part of age is different in the text 1 the audience are more for 9 to 18 but in text 2 the language, and many term are difficult for young people like 9. So the part of age is 15 to 18.

10. In the text one they use a lot of images to convaint to person to not wear schools uniforms. Firstly, ~~in the left~~ ~~in the left~~ they put image who said:
"School uniforms NON!" or at the right there is fashion model who are happy with their own ~~sty~~ style, there is also a big hand in the middle with the ~~poove~~ who goes down.

11. the school uniforms in Britain think about the cost of uniforms. They think that it's not expensive to buy a school uniforms, if. And if the school wants to change a logo they give new uniforms to help families. It's not the same case in

says
12. yes I argue because she said the reality. The people who haven't uniforms can be bullied because they don't have the same style each others. Doesn't matter if it isn't fashionable.

13. In the first text they give us argument but not very specific. In the second text they give us explication, arguments and statistic. The attitude isn't the same as this school, here people say that uniforms isn't good idea because ~~st~~ our style is our own identity and they don't like uniforms. But chbe argue the contraire.
